

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Monday, 12 March 2018

Submission: People are already under financial stress at the moment. Maybe hold off on increase until next year and review again. Many people on surviving on one wage or only casual employment and wages haven't increased for a while so maybe reconsider increasing rates for now