I find it difficult to believe that there is a proposed increase in water costing of 18% next year then 7% in following years, not including inflation. How are ordinary workers meant to afford such a staggeringly high increase, notably in the context of the multiple levels of economic pressure from electricity, mortgage rates, food, health and personal insurance etc ? My wages increased this year was 3%. Your ruinous proposal means an even more difficult life for me, my family and undoubtedly, most in the community except for the exceedingly wealthy. The advocates for this proposal should be ashamed to have put such a proposition forward, John
