I believe increasing cost of water supply by 14% would be so tough for people doing it already tough. A lot of people in this cost of living crunch is living pay check to pay check at the moment. This will absolutely devastate them. If water supply charges is increased by the same rate it will put even more upward pressure towards the rent. Rents in NSW are at tipping point. I hope IPart does not help fuel that any further. I think instead of the public, state govt should step in to contribute. Public agencies should not be run like profit making private companies in NSW. Period.
