Fares should be at least 20% more than the current rate, if you want this industry to survive, how can it be fair to work 10-12 hours and only make $100 income per day? if you want current drivers to stay in the industry and encourage more people to join, you should increase the minimum fare by 20% to say the least and to open up more taxi zones around Sydney also Taxis should be allowed to pick up anywhere at anytime in the city, no exceptions, being 1 minute allowance, after all thats what taxis are for, for people who dont want to drive to city or cannot drive, this is an urgent matter
