Dear IPART, Thank you for an opportunity to provide an input. I comment as follows: 1. Should IPART methodology be re-based after the census every five years to reflect actual growth? YES. Australian Bureau of Statistics (ABS) will collect Census for Population and Housing on 10 August 2021. ABS repeats this process every five years. Its details and accuracies are reliable and transparent. 2. In the absence of a true-up, should IPART impose a materiality threshold to trigger whether an adjustment is needed on a casebycase basis to reflect actual growth? YES but only as an Option (substantiated by each proponent Council with its material facts that show a reasonably sizeable quantum); an option to be rarely exercised at IPART's discretion.
