Dear Ms Smith

I would like underground cabling in Sydney and its suburbs because:

1. It ensures a stable reliable and continuous electricity supply - at my previous address on the block in Redfern we were frequently without electricity for days after a storm
2. It removes the visual pollution of cables
3. It is safer - the cables outside my balcony are at arms length
4. It reduces the menace to fruitbats (is that a first?)

Extra native trees should be planted to provide perches for birds when the poles come out.

Yours sincerely

James Dunbar
