

To Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal

From Mr Kim Margin

Doc No. 02/11/13

I support the idea of putting cables underground in urban areas. This should occur progressively over say 30 years, the most visually scarred streets should be prioritized, it should be funded by a levy on electricity pricing for domestic services. Service ducts should be used in all streets and some of this cost should be shared with, telephone and TV cabling etc.

I support this wholeheartedly and I'm ~~sure~~ certain many other people agree.

Your sincerely
Kim Margin
