

Author name: R. Kingcott

Date of submission: Monday, 7 May 2018

Submission: "To NSW Independent Pricing and Regulatory Tribunal (IPART)

As a householder who put in solar panels three years ago, I rejoiced to hear of the more reasonable price for electric power exported from my rooftop to the grid. I had been receiving a miserable 6.00c/kWh from Origin Energy. This was raised to 9.00c/kWh on 1 July 2017. A help, but still not realistic as my installation cost me $8000. I comfort myself that I have done the right thing and am contributing to the public good. The installation will never pay for itself in my lifetime. So to be put in a position to accept any less rate is ludicrous."