

Author name: Anonymous

Date of submission: Tuesday, 25 February 2014

Submission:

In considering any increase in Gas (or Electricity for that matter) price I would ask you to take into account that they are each able to offer a 12% or more reduction to customers if they use one or the other exclusively. It would appear to me that, if they are able to do that, they may already be overpriced to that degree.