

From: Scott Lander
Sent: Thursday, 28 April 2011 7:16 AM
To: IPART Mailbox
Subject:

I just wanted to drop you a line and congratulate you on YOUR inflation figures ,you must be very proud of your economic vandalism . In spite of the fact you play your part a little too well in this outrage by sucking the life out of businesses that rely on the no existent disposable income . Could you please change you name as you clearly do not know what indepentant means . How about IBLIND ? Or ICOMPLICENT ? ICARTEL ?

I'm sitting in my office at 7.00am trying to work out how to pay wages this week and every week and then it hit me like a La NINA down pour why don't you put up the price of water? haven't done that for a while the dams are full no one will notice .

.I'd love too spend more time expressing my disgust at your weakness however i'm going to go and work in my factory harder with the lights off to try and pay the gargantuan increases in utilities bills before the next one comes .

Don't take my email personally ( i'm sure there isn't much risk there) ,however do I just put it down to systemic failure of state ALP.

Oh one last tip , when you operate a web site prooporting to offer market competition just remember you do actually need a market that is competing (that concept seems to elude this department )

I'm sure you flat out reading congratulations note today ,so keep up the good bastardry .